

JUNE

Sometimes life can reveal a challenge, but in that challenge comes a new direction. Our student of the month, Brett Goode, can certainly attest to that fact. After having a workplace accident that required two surgeries and thirteen months of therapy, Brett was pondering returning to school. Now he has excelled in his classes and will be studying radiology.

Brett graduated high school at seventeen, launched his own business at nineteen, and relocated to England at twenty-one. His educational experience included attending Berklee Music College in Boston and touring eight different countries. Even though much of his time now is spent at SCC in The Learning Center, Brett still loves to play drums, travel, paint, and draw. We in the TLC see Brett almost every day, and he calls our center “the best resource at SCC.” We love partnering with students in their endeavors to succeed, and we anticipate what the future holds for Brett.
