

TLC Student
OF THE MONTH

November 2016

Each month TLC selects a student who has benefitted from our services. November's student is Trish Lyles

It turns out that SCC marketing does pay off, and that is evidenced by our TLC Student of the Month. Years after not furthering her education after high school, Trish Lyles heard a commercial about SCC on the radio and decided to enroll.

Trish is now in the radiologic technology program and keeps fit by coaching Crossfit at Crossfit Crash. She is serious about her animals (she calls her dogs her "fur babies") and her studies. Trish visits TLC two to three times a week.

Her thoughts about what she needs to share regarding the TLC says it all:

"Before coming to TLC, I used to be very shy about asking questions in my classes and 'looking stupid' in front of other students or my teachers. Now I feel like the TLC has given me the confidence I need to speak up when I don't understand things. The tutors at TLC have never made me feel dumb for not understanding something immediately and have the patience to work with me until I do. The TLC is definitely a safe zone for students who are struggling with any subject."
